AMERICANISM AND PEACE
PREPAREDNESS, PROSPERITY

three of his counsel violated our neutrality during the Crimean war. We gave these representatives of Great Britain their passports and sent them home.

"But we didn't go to war. Pierce settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.

President Van Buren.

"When Van Buren was president a detachment of Canadian militia, during the internal troubles in Canada, boarded the U. S. ship Carolina in the American waters of Niagara river, killed an American member of the crew, fired the ship and sent her adrift over Niagara Falls.

"But we didn't go to war. Van Buren settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.

"When Jefferson was president England seized hundreds of our ships and Napoleon hundreds more.

"When Adams was president France prayed upon our commerce. She extended her seizure, searches and confiscations to the very waters of the United States themselves until she had piled up in our state department charges of over 2,300 violations of neutrality's law.

"But we didn't go to war. Adams settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today.

"When Washington was president and, neutrally first declared, war convulsed Europe our ships dared not to put out to sea, commerce was paralyzed, and business depressed. American passengers and American crews were thrown into prison and deprived of legal rights.

"But we didn't go to war. Washington settled our troubles by negotiation just as the president of the United States is trying to do today."

In concluding this issue, Mr. Glynn asks: "Do the critics of the present administration believe that Lincoln should have risked national disaster by using the sword rather than the pen in pressing the Alabama claims? Are they willing to brand Grant as a coward because he kept us at peace with Spain?"

Wilson's Policy.

In answer to those who say that President Wilson's policy does not satisfy anyone, Mr. Glynn replies: "He means that it does not satisfy those who would map out a new and untried course for this nation to pursue, but they forget it does satisfy those who believe the United States should live up to the principles it has professed for a century and more."

"Chief Justice White of the United States supreme court says this policy has given America the greatest diplomatic victory of the past generation. Maximilian Harden, German's noted editor, says that never once has this republic violated its neutrality, and Gilbert K. Chesterton, the famous English journalist says, 'It is the duty of the president of the United States to protect the interests of the people of the United States, that he can't dip his country into hell just to show the world he has a keen sense of being an individual saviour.'"

"This policy," Mr. Glynn continues, "may not satisfy those who revel in destruction and find pleasure in despair. It may not satisfy the firebreater or the swashbuckler. But it does satisfy those who worship at the altar of the God of Peace. It does satisfy the mothers of the land at whose hearth and fireside no linguistic war has placed an empty chair. It does satisfy the daughters of this land from whom bluster and brag has sent no loving brother to the dissolution of the grace. It does satisfy the fathers of this land and the sons of this land who will fight for our flag, and die for our flag when Beacon Prince the rifle, when Honor draws the sword, when Justice breathes a blessing on the standards they uphold."

"Fighting for every degree of injury," maintained "would mean perpetual war and this is the policy of our opponents, deny it how they will. It would give us a war abroad each time the fighting cock of the European weather vane shifted with the breeze. It would make America the cockpit of the world. We would be no busy settling other people's quarrels that we would have no time to attend to our own business."

In the treatment of the issue of preparedness Mr. Glynn asserts that the genius of this country is in peace.

"We have built our greatness on the resources of nature and the peaceful toil of our people. The ring of the anvil, not the rattle of the saber, the song of the reaper, not the snarl of the soldier, the clatter of the rifle have won us the place we occupy in the councils of the world."

Thomas Jefferson said: "Like the old Mohawk chief who loved peace, we would like to throw the tomahawk of war so high in the sky that no man's hand could ever pull it down. But when some other tribe among the races of men sends us a bundle of arrows wrapped in the skin of a rattlesnake, we want like old Governor Braden, of Massachusetts, to be in a position to send that rattlesnake's skin back stained with powder and with trail."

"We have been carried too close to the rocks of war during the past two years, believe that some rocks are not safe. And looking into the future we can perceive that to our country to be challenged, if our policy is not settled, will only be to show the world that we are strong enough to defend ourselves from every foe."

"For these reasons this administration has done more for our army and our navy than any administration in our history."

"More than this, it has mobilized like resources of the nation to meet the needs of war. It has placed the wealth of the country back of the strength of the country, the toiler back of the soldier and the sailor."

"And to our opponents we say you can't create an army, can't create a navy in the course of a day; to them we say if our navy is not strong enough, our army not big enough the republican party is eighty per cent to blame for the republican party has been in control of this nation eighty per cent of the time during the past fifty years."

"The democratic party advocates and seeks preparedness, but it is preparedness for defense, not preparedness for aggression."

"It is the preparedness which builds the nation's house upon a rock, so it will not fall when the rains descend and the floods come and the winds blow."

"A regard for national surety as well as a pride of personal honor will therefore bring the American people to the support of their president. Whether their blood is drawn from the banks of the Rhine; of where the River Shannon flows, whether they hail from Alpine valleys or the meadows of the Pyrenees, whether their descent be German or French, Irish or English, Austrian or Italian, Russian or Greek, the men who have sworn an oath of reality to the ideals of America will be true."

"They may love the lands of their fathers much, but they love the land of their children more. They may cherish the memory of the sod from whence they sprang, but they stand ready to die for the soil that they have hallowed with their homes."

In his review of our domestic policy the temporary chairman pointed out that the promises made by democracy four years ago had been faithfully kept."

"Today the prosperity which the nation enjoys bears witness that democracy has kept the faith. Today the gates of opportunity are open; the hosts of special privilege stand disarmed. Today the forces of government are encouraging, not blocking the full expression of the nation's progress. Today the business man, the artisan and farmer and themselves free to enjoy the fruits of their labor, unhampered by the sinister power of special privilege or the selfish aggression of invisible government."

Chairman Glynn concluded with praise for President Wilson, who, he said, has measured up to the best traditions of a great office.

"He has been wise with a wisdom that is sleepless in the traditions of his country with a wisdom that has been disciplined by training and broadened by instruction."

"He has been firm with the firmness that is grounded in a duty well defined."

"He has been patient with the patience which believes and trusts that truth, crushed to earth will rise again, with the patience that can endure and wait, watch and pray for the certain vindication of justice, humanity and right."

"He has been patriotic with a patriotism that has never wavered, a patriotism that is as pure and strong as the faith that moved the fathers when they made our country free."

"And when the history of these days comes to be written and the children of tomorrow read their nation's story; when time shall have dispelled all misconception and the years shall have rendered their impartial verdict one name will shine in golden splendor upon the page that is blackened with the tale of Europe's war, one name will represent the triumph of American principles over the hosts of darkness and of death."

"That name will be the name of the great president who has made democracy proud that he is a democrat, and made America proud that he is an American."

"It will be the name of the statesman who has kept his country true to its faith in a time that tried men's souls; the name of the student and the scholar who has championed the cause of American freedom wherever he found it oppressed; the name of the patriot who has implanted his country's flag on the highest peak to which humanity has yet ascended; the name that carried the torch of progress to victory once and will carry it to victory again the name of Woodrow Wilson president and president to be."

PRAISES TANLAC

These Severe Spells Would Last
For a Half Day At A Time

After having been unable to work for four months on account of ill health, during which period she suffered from chills, fever, indigestion and that most repugnant and discomforting of all complaints—boiling, which would continue for an hour at a time—Mrs. J. L. Boylet, well known housewife of No. 2 Blake St., Charleston, has added her name to the thousands who have found relief in the use of Tanlac.

"I suffered from indigestion and chills and fever," states Mrs. Boylet. "My indigestion caused me terrible pains in my stomach and chest, and I would sometimes bech for an hour at a time. I suffered something terrible at times. It seemed that I could not digest anything that I ate."

"I suffered from extreme headaches and was extremely nervous, jumping at the slightest noise. After eating I would have a pretty full feeling in my stomach and I became very weak. Then chills and fever would come on me very suddenly. I would be sitting, talking to my friends possibly, and severe pains would start running up my limbs. In a few minutes they would spread to my back and upper limbs. Then those terrible pains would continue for hours. Chills would set in and I would go to bed. In a short time I would become unconscious, remaining so nearly a half day. I had these spells about twice a year and have had them for about four years. Sometimes my feet and ankles would swell to double normal size and sometimes a large blister would form on my knees. This would first turn red and burn just exactly like a red hot iron being pressed to me. In a day or two it would turn into a real blister. When the blister was opened and the water let out it would turn into a very bad sore. I tell you, I suffered terribly. I have not been able to work for four months because of my poor health. Sometimes I would turn black in the face, and have been pronounced dead while in the grip of these spells. These two conditions were gradually killing me. I do not believe that I would have lived very long if I had not gotten relief when I did."

"I read of some of the wonderful things that Tanlac was doing, and one of these statements was that of a friend whom I have known for more than fifteen years."

"The relief that I received from Tanlac has been wonderful. It has relieved me of my indigestion entirely. My appetite is just too good. I can eat and crave nearly everything."

"Those headaches, I had (they nearly drove me out of my mind at times) have been entirely relieved. I have not had a headache since I started taking Tanlac, and my nervousness is gone. I have not had one of those spells, although I have passed the period when they usually come upon me. I do not believe that I will ever have them again. They have come on me regularly at about the middle of the day, and they did not come on me this year because I took Tanlac, I know."

"Tanic is certainly a wonderful medicine, and may God bless it and you. I most surely do recommend it. It has performed a miracle in my case."

Tanic, the master medicine, is sold exclusively in Anderson by Evans' Pharmacy—two stores—Adv.

JULY, AUGUST

and the First Half of September
are Very Trying Months on the Cotton Crop

A crop that is well fertilized stands dry weather better than a crop that is not well fertilized. It is stronger and more vigorous than a poorly fertilized crop. A well fed horse stands hardships better than one that is not well fed. And as for shedding—cotton that is side dressed does not shed anything like cotton that is not side dressed. The reason cotton sheds is because it hasn't sufficient plant food to nourish it properly. You fertilize your cotton when you plant it. By the time your cotton begins to fruit a great deal of that fertilizer is gone and so just when the strain on your cotton plant is greatest. When it is squalling and blooming and belling, laboring under the greatest strain during the life of the plant, the supply of plant food has already decreased at least half and is steadily weakening—the plant sheds—what else can it do?

You increase your mule's feed when you are working it hard. You don't depend on what you gave him three months before. You increase his feed. Now feed your cotton. Give it a supply of plant food to draw on during the period of greatest strain. You just make one cotton crop a year. Make a good one—make every look of cotton you can. The way to do it is to side dress your cotton. It is thought that it will pay you $3.00 for every dollar you pay out. Every "prize acre" of cotton is side dressed and two and three times. Why? Because it makes more cotton. There you are.

Some years a pretty fair crop of cotton is shed—side dressing will prevent nearly all of this. We have the fertilizer and the very best that is made.

Anderson Phosphate &amp; Oil Co

The cotton crop is at least 15 days late this year. Side dressing will hurry the crop on and this may be very important if we should have an early frost.

We are making an excellent side dresser for cotton and corn for $30 a ton, Anderson. This is not as good as our $34 goods, but it is the best $30 goods on this or any other market.
